

HUNT'S MERCHANTS' MAGAZINE

AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCIAL REVIEWS
Established, July, 1840.
BY FREEMAN SUET, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
The Number for December, 1840, completed the twenty-third semi-annual volume. The work has been continued by the same management in July, 1850, and each volume now contains nearly two hundred and thirty large pages. A few complete sets of the Magazine may be obtained at the publisher's office, 142 Fulton street, New York, neatly and substantially bound, for two dollars and six per volume.

The following are a few of the many commendatory letters received by the editor of the Merchants' Magazine on its closing:

Letter from the Hon. Henry Clay.
ASHLAND, 20th July, 1840.
Dear Sir: I wish to express to you my gratification I derived on receiving the July Number of the Merchants' Magazine and Commercial Review, from viewing your treatise in the beginning, and from reading your address to your friends at the end of it. When we feel under obligations to one another, it is not only our duty, but our pleasure, and amusement, we are naturally desirous to possess useful facts and information, which can be found nowhere else. I only regret that I do not own the whole work."

Letter from Hon. Thomas H. Benton.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 20, 1846.

Mr. Freeman Hunt—Sir: I owe you many thanks for the opportunities I have had of consulting the Merchants' Magazine, and have found it in reality to be a valuable and well replenished, of all the useful matter which the world would, and presented with a fullness and variety of materials which I have not seen in any of the mercantile magazine in the large acceptance of the term—merchants who go between nations, whose large commerce connects the remotest parts of the globe, and who are of the state of the world, into daily reliance. But it is not the great merchant only, but the one of more modest, but nevertheless, of most useful operations—the merchant who traffics in the necessities of life, the farmer, the artisan, the laborer, and the domestic, who are all bound with the information the parent of his business and the elevation of the mercantile character requires. I have been much interested in the views which you attribute to the legislator and diplomatist, and to all who are charged with managing the affairs of the nation. For myself, I have found it most useful to me in my sentiments and habits in the habit for many years of carefully consulting it.

Very respectfully, sir, your obedient servant,
THOMAS H. BENTON.

Letter from Hon. Wm. H. Seward.

My Dear Sir: Have the goodness to place my name on your list of subscribers for the Merchants' Magazine. I consider it as an invaluable work for the use of all who are engaged in mercantile or political pursuits.

COLD SPRING WATER CURE.

THIS NEW AND SPLENDID ESTABLISHMENT for the scientific treatment of the various diseases which the human system is afflicted, is situated about six miles from the city of Buffalo, in a rural spot, and the climate is so pure and healthy, that all ailments of consequence can be cured, and the patient returned to his usual mode of life, in a few days, without inconvenience or delay.

The line of omnibuses runs from the steamboat landings to the hotel, and change every ten minutes. The house and grounds are near the extensive and beautiful green-house and nurseries of the Messrs. Hodge Brant; and the scenery in all directions is unsurpassed, as regards either variety or beauty; embracing a view of the finest of the Niagara Falls, and a broad expanse of Lake Erie, the Niagara River, and the city towards the Falls, extensive forests, and the Queen City of the Lakes," with its moving panorama of commerce and manufacturing enterprise. The "hot water," taken immediately from the celebrated Hot Spring, is unsurpassed as regards coldness and purity, by any in the United States. The house, recently erected at a cost of about seven thousand dollars, has been built in a style of architecture, of considerable expense, and is sufficiently capacious to accommodate twenty-five patients.

The institution is under the general supervision of S. Davis, M. D., Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine in Central Medical College, and Geo. W. Davis, D. D., President of the University.

U. Hornmeyer of Danville, N. Y., the resident physician, is permanently associated with the before mentioned gentleman as counsel, and associate of the medical board control. And the friends of the establishment deem it a matter of felicitation that the services of Miss Mary M. Fowler, a lady of high medical attainments, who has attended the courses of lectures in the Central Medical College, have been secured, and that female patients can at any time avail themselves of her invaluable aid and counsel.

man eminently qualified for that position; and unwearied pains will be taken to have every thing ascertained in relation to the health of the community, and to the way, to ensure the comfort, and promote the health, and happiness of all who may wish to avail themselves of the services of the Dispensary. The Dispensary is the various forms of disease, and constructed on a scale inferior to those of any other establishment in this country.

As enlightened public sentiment has everywhere brought a reckless use of drugs in the treatment of disease; and as little reliance is to be placed on the medical profession, we have adopted the motto "Reform." A return from a wide and distant departure from the simplicity of Nature's laws to the artificiality of the medical system, and to the intolerable exactions of our condition. Hydropathy, or the use of water as a restorative and curative agent, is the only practice that has been found to be successful in the various modes of curing the sick; for that system of drugs, depleting, and cauterizing, which, is obtaining the the reach of further annoyance. The success of the new Water Cure establishments in this country, to say the least, has fully confirmed the hopes of the many discoverers and promoters of the great truths on which the system is founded, and renders verbal communications unnecessary. It is deemed sufficient to state that the Water Cure system compares favorably with any of the well-conducted establishments of similar character, and will be found equal to the best, regarding the order, convenience, and desirableness of its arrangements. The institution is now open for the reception of patients, and in full operation.

TERMS.
